Sen. Flanders Hits Plan to Hike Tax Exemptions

Democrats Prepare For All-Out Fight in House Next Week

By United Press
Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) today charged that a Democratic plan to boost personal income tax exemptions is nothing but "an expensive ploy" and would mean little to the average taxpayer.

He made the statement as Democrats buckled down for an all-out fight to take the play away from Republicans on taxes.

A measure to increase the present $600 individual income tax exemption by $100 was scheduled to come up in the House next week. And Senate Democrats, pushing for a $200 boost, were considering taking their exemption proposal on a House-passed bill to cut excise taxes one billion dollars. The administration is opposed to both the excise cut and exemption boost.

Hit GOP Proposal

Democrats, charging that the administration's tax program mainly benefits the wealthy, centered their attack on the proposal for special tax reductions on stock dividends. Rep. Herman P. Eberhart (D-Pa.) charged that the sponsor of the proposal, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, has not carried out a promise to list his own stock holdings. Eberhart said he will make a "personal inquiry" about the matter on the House floor Monday.

Other congressional news:

Statehood: Republican leaders have announced a Senate program which all but kills prospects for early action on a bill to bring Alaska and Hawaii into the Union. Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) told GOP Leader William F. Knowland the Senate may be debating statehood next July if the measure keeps getting set aside. But Knowland said he would go through with plans to consider other legislation first.

Atomic: The Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee launched an investigation of a report that "highly secret" files disappeared from the Hanford, Wash. atomic plant. Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) said the group is looking into a report that "substantial quantities" of secret papers are missing from the plant.

Revenue Service Slows Down Tax Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The internal revenue service has ordered a slowdown on income tax refunds this year to give tax agents more time to check figures, informed sources said today.

Last year's refunding was completed in near record time, aimed at an informal deadline of April 15. This year the service has set May 15 as the date by which the bulk of the refunding is to be completed.

Preliminary statistics indicate there may be no more refund claims this spring than there were last spring, even though the dip in employment late in 1953 probably entitled many taxpayers to ask for some of their money back.

This indication, however, may stem from the slowdown in handling returns.

As of one week ago, internal revenue offices had received some 12,780,000 returns which showed overpayments, mostly through withholding taxes. At the same time last year, 13,270,000 such returns had come in; a difference of only about 500,000.

Refunds totaling $691,740,000 had already been ordered for 8,870,000 taxpayers by last March 4, 11 days before the filing deadline. On March 5 last year, refunds totaling $755,550,000 had been ordered for 10,750,000 taxpayers.

Traditionally, taxpayers who can claim a refund are the first to file their returns, so they will get their money back quickly. The revenue service cannot cut the returns as fast as they come in, however, so current figures do not accurately indicate the number actually filed.

Harrisburg's Water Supply Residents' Personal Problem

(An Editorial)

Next Thursday, March 18, Harrisburg's voters will determine the fate of a move to provide the city with an adequate water supply.

They will accept or reject the issuance of $200,000 in bonds to purchase land near Galatia, erect a dam to hold a plentiful supply of water, and to add to the water plant facilities so there will be sufficient water for the city's present and future needs.

If approved, the bonds will be paid from water revenue only, with no direct tax.

Practically all residents of Harrisburg who have acquainted themselves with the water problem and its proposed solution, favor the proposal.

There are some who oppose it because they are not fully informed, or for purely personal reasons. Some fall in the class of those who are opposed to any improvement.

The Harrisburg City Council, the Water Board and civic leaders, who have attempted for years to secure an adequate water supply for the city, have studied many suggestions and plans. They do not claim the one offered is perfect, but it is the best practical plan yet suggested.

For the benefit of all who are interested, we review some of the problems involved and answer some of the objections voiced against the present proposal.

THE PLAN: The city will buy acreage to the north of the Harrisburg-Galatia state road at a point where there is a deep dip in the road a short distance east of Galatia. A dam would be built at this spot, backing water a considerable distance to the north. This is a natural water shed. According to engineer's estimates, sufficient water would be captured in a single year to last up to three years. The water would be allowed to flow by gravity to the present pumping station and pumped into the city reservoir.

In addition to the reservoir, there would be additional city mains, an addition to the filter plant, clear well, etc., to provide plenty of water for the entire city.

RATES: The recent 50-cent increase was to take care of this expense. Some believe if they vote against the plan, the 50-cent increase will be removed. The fact is, if the project fails, and it is necessary to continue the program of securing water from Blue Lake, or other sources on an emergency basis, another rate increase may be necessary.

DEEPENING OLD RESERVOIR: It has been suggested the problem would be solved by deepening the old reservoir. If it has been impossible to fill the reservoir from the present pumping from Bankston Fork, why dig it deeper? A hole in the Sahara desert would not be a useful reservoir unless it could be filled. In addition, it is estimated the cost of deepening the reservoir would approximate the price of the proposed new project.

DRILLING WELLS: Miners of this area know the type of water they find underground. Towns served by deep wells are those over gravel beds from old rivers, or are adjacent to existing rivers where there is adequate underground supply. This is not true in this area.

BLUE LAKE: It has been suggested that, since a line is laid to Blue Lake (formerly known as Blue Hole) that this supply be made permanent. Pipe is now laid above ground and pumps are borrowed. If this were made permanent, right-of-way would have to be purchased, pipe laid underground and the lake property purchased. All of this would cost as much as the proposed project. Further, water in Blue Lake is at least partially from worked-out coal mines and is not recommended as a permanent supply.

COST OF THE LAND: City officials have stated repeatedly they realize the cost of the land for the new reservoir is excessive. They could purchase similar land, in various areas of the county at a lower price. But, in order to group the land for a reservoir, it is necessary that it be purchased in a group. The owners in many instances, have lived for years on the farms in the area, have improved them and do not care to move. They have their own price. What would you ask for your home, if you didn't want to leave it?

There have been malicious stories about the ownership of the land. The options are on file at the City Clerk's office, and are open to the public. The names of the owners have been published in The Daily Register. Ownership is on record at the court house. If those who spread these stories want to be fair, they would investigate before talking.

Water is becoming a nation-wide problem. Other cities are making plans for more adequate supply. Harrisburg has an opportunity to get plenty of water from a natural water shed, uncontaminated by minerals.

Not only Harrisburg's future, but the health of its citizens is at stake.

The proposal should be supported by every citizen of the community.

Go to the polls next Thursday. Vote for your own interest.

To Recommend Dr. Howard as U. I. Agriculture Dean

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—President Lloyd Morey of the University of Illinois today announced he will recommend appointment of Dr. Louis B. Howard as the new dean of agriculture and director of the university agriculture experiment station.

Howard is now associate director of the experiment station. Dr. R. R. Hudelson, the present dean and director, will retire next Sept. 1. Howard has been a member of the college of agriculture staff since 1948 when he was named head of the new department of food technology.

He is a native of McLean county.

Hudelson will end 29 years of active service with the university when he retires. He became acting dean in 1951 and in 1952 succeeded H. P. Rusk as dean.

Junior High Students To Promote Interest In Lake Referendum

To encourage getting out the vote at the Lake Harrisburg referendum next Thursday, Junior high students will ask uptown shoppers their opinions on the proposition next week.

The Daily Register today received a letter from one of the students which said:

"Four of the eighth grade sections are trying to encourage the voting for Lake Harrisburg. Several students will be uptown asking the shoppers their opinions on Lake Harrisburg next week. We would like for the shoppers to cooperate and tell their true opinions."

"We would like to do other projects and maybe we could get on radio and television. Most of us are for Lake Harrisburg."

"We surely would appreciate it if you would put this in the paper for us."

3 Americans Among Dead on British Plane

Were on World Tour; Eight Survive Crash at Singapore

SINGAPORE, Malaya (AP)—Thirty-two persons including three Americans and one Canadian died today in the flaming fuselage of a British airliner that crashed on landing at Singapore's Kallang Airport. Eight crew members escaped. But the big plane's 31 passengers and one crew member died in the flames, the doors of the fuselage jammed, while rescue workers tried frantically to hack a way inside.

The Americans were listed as Mr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Wood, on a world tour which they started at New York, and Michael Shatkin, Far Eastern representative of Warner Brothers motion picture company.

On Flight from Sydney

Shatkin was a Russian-born naturalized American, friends said. He had maintained headquarters here for about seven years.

The Canadian was not immediately identified.

An Australian victim—Mrs. Anne Marie Stafford Steen, wife of a Perth physician—had flown here to meet a daughter who is due here by plane Monday from the United States.

The gleaming British Overseas Airways Corp. Constellation was on a flight from Sydney, Australia, to London.

It was coming into Kallang Airport from Djakarta, Indonesia, skimming over the waters of the Singapore Strait.

The plane with the triple-finned tail dipped too low. Its tricycle landing gear nicked the sea wall which raises the runway above the water.

Door Jammed
The airliner rose on its nose, somersaulted and crashed on its back.

A sheet of orange-colored flame shot through the passenger cabin, and a black plume of smoke spouted into the clear sky.

Eight crew members including Pilot Capt. Trevor W. Hoyle fought their way out of the nose compartment.

The doors of the main compartment jammed. Firemen, despite the intensifying flames, managed to hack a hole in the fuselage.

Two of those inside were pulled out—one male passenger, who died on the way to a hospital, and a stewardess whose clothing was aflame.

Most of the bodies were burned beyond recognition. Seven or eight were jammed against a door. They had died as they battled in vain to open it.

Navy Bomber Is 'Shot Up' by Czech MIG 15

American Planes Fired On Over German Territory

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—One U. S. Navy plane was "badly shot up" but no airmen were injured in Friday's Communist attack on two carrier-based AD attack bombers, the Navy announced today.

U. S. State Department, Air Force and Navy officials met today at nearby Neubiberg Airbase, where the American planes landed after the attack, to discuss a possible diplomatic protest.

A Russian-built MIG15 jet attacked the propeller-driven ADs near the border of Communist Czechoslovakia when they strayed over Germany during a flight from the Mediterranean to Austria.

A Red note delivered today to the U. S. Embassy in Prague charged the American planes "penetrated Czech territory," but eyewitness reports and evidence on the scene contradicted the Communist claim.

Situation Confused

Germans who saw the aerial clash said the Navy planes were attacked over German territory. Police reported cartridge cases ejected by aircraft cannon during the battle fell on two German villages.

The police reported the cartridge cases were of two calibers, apparently supporting reports that one of the American planes returned the MIG's fire.

The situation was confused, however, by a report that the shells were from "2.3 and 2.5 inch cannon." Either caliber is far larger than the 20-mm. cannon usually mounted by ADs.

The Navy would not comment immediately on the German report that one of the U. S. planes "fired five or six rounds" in the encounter.

A U. S. Army spokesman in Vienna said the planes, normally based on the aircraft carrier Randolph in the Mediterranean, were two of 45 scheduled to fly to Austria Friday for "routine air-ground familiarization exercises" in the Salzburg area.

Wandered Off Course

He said there was nothing "unusual or unprecedented" about the maneuvers. Thirty-six propeller-driven planes and nine jets were scheduled to take part.

"These operations are held from time to time to sharpen up air-ground liaison," the spokesman said. "They are considered routine."

He said the planes flying up from the Mediterranean were supposed to rendezvous some 15 miles northeast of Salzburg. He did not know how the two attack bombers came to wander so far off course.

The Czech protest said the two planes crossed the Czech border southwest of Domaslice and flew as far as Janyov, 70 miles across the western tip of Czechoslovakia—where they were intercepted by a Red air patrol and ordered to land.

"When the American planes refused to obey this request, the Czech plane had to open fire," the Red note said. "The two American planes promptly disappeared in the clouds."

YOU CAN DOUBLE YOUR YIELDS

from Untreated Land by liming and growing good legume crops. Here's what J. B. Turner, Farm Adviser, found from the Brownstown soil experiment field in Fayette County. It's a profit-making discovery.

"The Brownstown tests have shown how a farmer can change from tickle grass to brome or timothy.

"On untreated plots, you don't even get tickle grass. On plots with phosphorus but no lime you get a few blades. But on limed and phosphated plots the tickle grass is crowded out and replaced with either brome grass or timothy. This, plus legume, gives you lots of first-rate feed and green manure.

"Here's another eye-opener on the value of legumes: One plot got four tons of lime an acre, another no lime. The first plot got a fine standover legume hay crop that was plowed down for green manure, but the other did not. The two plots received the same nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizers.

"The no-lime plot grew 7 bushels of wheat, 52 bushels of corn, and 20 bushels of beans as average yields.

"The four-ton lime plot grew 21 bushels of wheat, 75 bushels of corn and 26 bushels of beans."

With the spring grass season just around the corner, the heavy flow of milk will be hitting the market soon, bringing more surpluses and lower returns.

We'll just ask a couple of questions. Have you gotten around yet to staggering the freshening time of the cows in your herd so that some will have calves in the fall, spreading out your high milk production season?

What are you doing about helping consume milk and milk products? You might even beat the high cost of coffee some by drinking milk instead of coffee. Milk is one of the outstanding food buys of the day. Its price has risen less than the average for all foods.

Protein is the most expensive nutrient in our diet. Milk and milk products are the cheapest sources of this essential food. One glass of milk also will furnish one-fourth of the calcium and one-fourth of the riboflavin the body needs each day. Drink more of it and be healthier while saving money.

Milk is one of the oldest of known foods. Records show that man was milking cows away back about 9,000 B. C. One of those old cows must have been the grandmammy of Paul Bunyan's ox.

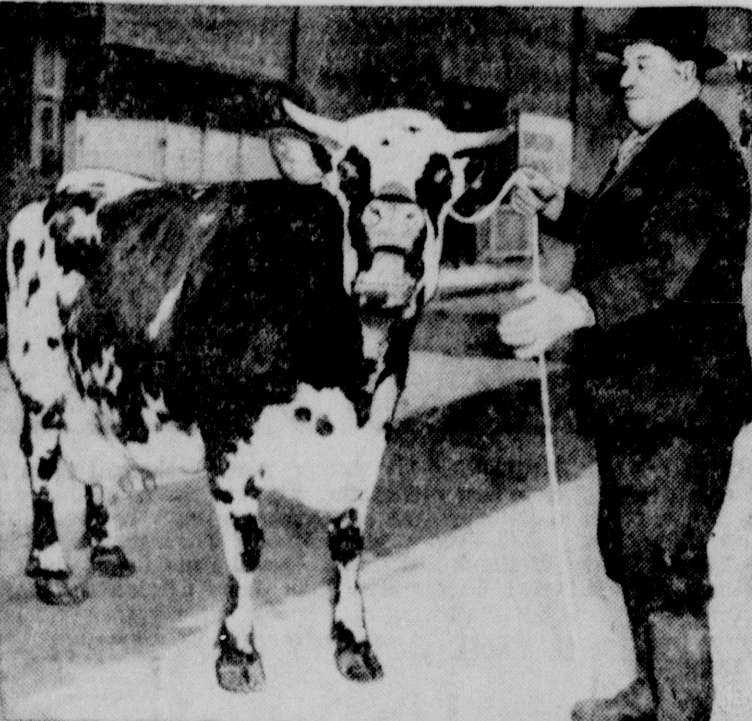

Milk talk, of course, brings up the question of farm animals, grass, legumes, pasture, and meadows. The production ability of a farm animal is much more important than the breed when it comes to getting money in the pocket. When you buy a breeding animal it is something like buying any other piece of farm equipment—a tractor, for instance. If that animal isn't the most needed thing on the farm and won't pay off, don't buy it.

If your farm isn't large, dairy cattle and poultry are the livestock enterprises that will give you a high labor income—if you manage carefully. You need a large acreage with a good percentage of improved permanent pasture, legumes, grasses, and cheap roughage to have a successful beef breeding herd. Whichever you have, if your farm is 160 acres or less you need some type of livestock enterprise to give you a big enough business volume to provide a good living.

And don't overlook sheep. The Sears Foundation through Future Farmers of America chapters in the area has helped promote some interest in sheep among young farmers and their dads the past few years but many are shying away from an animal that has a place on the farm. The SIU farm manager says that sheep breeding herds use a lot of feed that is otherwise wasted on many farms, and that a farmer needs only half the investment in sheep breeding stock that he would need in beef cows to utilize the same amount of feed.

Guy DeNeal on Farm Interview Program Tuesday, March 16

Guy A. DeNeal, RFD 3, Harrisburg, will soon be a guest on the "Let's Go Visiting" farm interview program carried by transcription over 27 radio stations.

The DeNeal interview will be heard in this area from Station WCNT, centralia, on Tuesday, March 16, at 6:35 a. m.

Med Maxwell, "America's Most traveled farm radio man," will interview DeNeal. "Let's Go Visiting" specializes in farm visits, or in places and functions of special interest to farmers.

This broadcast will originate on the farm of Guy DeNeal, a man who knows how to live. Not only is he a good farmer, but he has taught school for 31 years and is a good photographer. Mr. DeNeal has traveled extensively, and, almost continuously since 1916, has gone to college. All of which means that—although Guy DeNeal may now be full of years, he has not stopped growing!

The "Let's Go Visiting" program has been popular with both rural and city listeners for more than a decade. Med Maxwell, the interviewer, has traveled more than a half million miles in rural America since the radio program was established. "Let's Go Visiting" is sponsored by the manufacturers of Wayne livestock and poultry feeds as a means of letting people "travel" by radio to visit interesting people and places in many states.

Plan Now to Rebuild Pasture

Farmers should make plans now to repair and rebuild their pastures which generally during 1953 were the poorest they have been for a number of years. On November 1, they were only 52 per cent of normal for the country as of that date. This compares with 56 per cent of normal on Nov. 1, 1952 and an average of 77 per cent of normal during the period 1942-1951. The pastures of Missouri and Kentucky were in the poorest condition on that date while the Northwest Pacific Coast States enjoyed the best pastures.

Plant growth in most areas was slow because of the drought that the plants could not store up any reserve food supplies to carry them through the winter without heavy losses or to give them a boost for spring growth. Hence now is the time to lime and fertilize pastures to give these stunted forage plants food to stimulate lush growth in the early spring.

Although in many areas full barn feeding had to be started several months earlier than usual because of the poor pasture conditions, farmers should not yield to the temptation of putting cattle out on pasture as soon as they start to turn green. The two consecutive bad seasons of 1952 and 1953 have so reduced the vitality of the plants that premature grazing could easily be the last straw, particularly if they encounter another unfavorable season.

Farmers' costs continue to rise while the prices they receive are dropping. The parity ratio in mid November stood at 90, a drop of eight points during the past year. This is the lowest ratio on record since May 1941. Despite these adverse conditions, farmers cannot afford to turn their stock out before pastures have attained sufficient growth or to slow down or discontinue their liming, fertilization and seeding programs. To do so would further increase production costs because there is no better or cheaper feed than good pasture consisting of grass and legume mixtures grown on mineral rich soils.

Swine Growers' Day Set for April 15

Swine Growers' Day at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will be held on Thursday, April 15.

In announcing the date, L. E. Card, head of the animal science department at the college, says that all hog producers in the state are especially invited to attend the day's program.

Three outstanding speakers representing the swine industry will appear during the afternoon session, Dr. Card says. Most of the morning program will be made up of research reports by members of the swine staff at the college giving the latest results of the testing work at the swine farm.

Topics to be reported will be selected from the research work being done on protein levels of swine rations, Ladino clover for swine, antibiotic implants and gamma globulin tests and creep feeding.

As usual, if you plan to arrive in Urbana between 8 and 10 a. m. you can visit the open house at the swine farm. You'll have a chance to see research work under way on farrowing stalls, creep feeding tests, and crossbreeding.

You may also be interested in attending the Illinois Feed and Nutrition conference at the College of Agriculture scheduled for Wednesday, April 14.

Before you buy seed soybeans this spring, be sure the variety you choose is adapted to your area.

For More Dairy Profits Review Feeding Program

Many dairymen are using too much protein in their rations and are going to needless feed expense, warns Karl Gardner.

Dairy cows won't respond to a high protein ration, and it won't profitably increase production, says the U. of I. dairyman.

"Shop around and find the cheapest source of protein for your herd," Gardner says. "When a 34 percent protein supplement costs more than three-fourths as much as straight protein supplement, such as soybean oil meal and cottonseed meal, then it is evident that the protein mix isn't as economical a source of protein."

When you're using large quantities of legume or mixed hays, weigh the milk and feed the protein and grain in direct proportion to production. Use one pound of feed for every four pounds of milk produced for Holsteins and Brown Swiss, and one pound of feed for every three pounds of milk produced for Jerseys and Guernseys.

"Dairymen who use high-quality legume hay or legume silage as the only roughage need not feed more than 11 percent, or even 10 percent, of total protein in the mixture if they feed grain at the recommended rate. When excess protein is fed, the nitrogen merely goes out in the manure as waste, because the cow cannot store it," Gardner concludes.

Strawberry Plants Need Silt Loam Soil With Good Drainage

Plant strawberries in a silt loam soil that has plenty of organic matter, says Lowell R. Tucker, Southern Illinois University Agriculture department horticulturist. Shallow soil with a tight clay subsoil is unsatisfactory.

Berry plants have a relatively shallow, small root system as compared to other fruit plants and need adequate water rather evenly distributed during the growing season for best results. Good drainage and soil aeration are essential. Either barnyard or green manure helps fill organic matter requirements, Tucker points out.

Tucker advocates mulching to retard water evaporation from the soil, regulate soil temperature, and control erosion. Mulch will aid during harvest and increase fruit size and quality.

Supplemental irrigation during dry seasons pays the berry grower in better plants and finer fruit, Tucker says. The farmer considering irrigation should estimate his needs, the source and volume of water available, and the storage area before making installations. Deep ponds assuring adequate water storage are essential for supplemental irrigation.

Fertilize Garden Ahead of Seeding

Most practical way to put fertilizer on the garden is to broadcast it.

Put it on at least a week before you make garden to give the fertilizer time to mix with the soil. Otherwise it may damage the delicate seeds.

Norman Oebker, University of Illinois garden specialist, recommends 3 to 5 pounds of 5-10-10 or similar fertilizer per 100 square feet on soil not fertilized recently. Soils fertilized in the last few years will need less. He thinks it best to broadcast the fertilizer after plowing and to rake or harrow it into the ground.

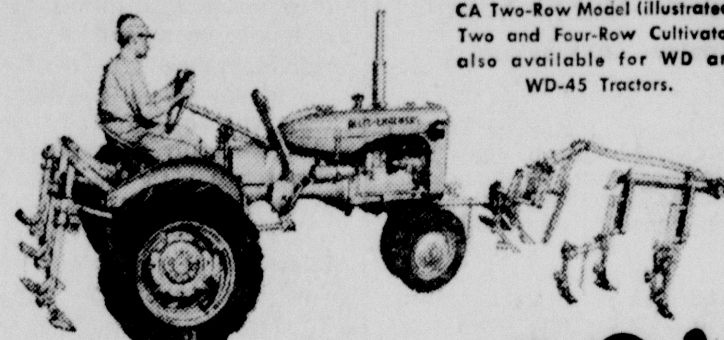

Banding fertilizer close to the seed will often increase vegetable yields. But Oebker says that it's more trouble for the home gardener than it's worth. Commercial gardeners have special equipment for banding.

Treating seed oats and spring barley against smut with Ceresan-M-Panogen is cheap insurance to help you increase yields, says a University of Illinois agronomist.

Manure, properly handled and applied, can mean more profit per acre from your dairy herd through better forage.

In Loving Memory of Charles Day, Jr.

son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day Sr., who passed away October 13, 1953.

Five months have passed dear one
Since you closed your eyes
And went to sleep.
Just as the shades of night
Were gathering deep.

Jesus took you by the hand
And you went with Him
To a far distant land
For you heard the angels singing
In the heavenly band.

In this home there is no
Sickness, pain or sorrow,
We who loved you hope to meet
You in some bright tomorrow
And with His hope in our hearts
We dry our tears
And leave grief to a God
Who knows and cares.

Sadly missed by Wife,
Mother, Father, Sister and Grandfather.

McKinley Baptist W. M. S. Meets for Royal Service Program

The W. M. S. of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Wednesday, March 10, at the church for the regular business meeting and royal service missionary program. The theme was "Lifting America's Morals" which was directed by the program chairman, Mrs. Henry Hendren.

The devotion was given by Mrs. James Ford, who took her scripture from Daniel 2:31-36, comparing a great image that he saw to people of America. "We are a large group, wealthy and blessed people," she said, "but are our feet in the clay? As we think of morals today we must remember that they apply to us individually."

Mrs. Ed Hutchison gave a topic entitled "Juvenile Delinquency and Influence of Home." Other topics were by Mrs. Hendren, "Influence of the Church," Mrs. Webb Yarbrough, "What Can We Do About Juvenile Delinquency?" Mrs. Kirt Gasaway, "Family Life, keep your religion, and religion will keep your family," Mrs. Charles Lamar, "Alcohol Does Not Belong," and Mrs. Green McDonnell on "Racial Prejudice."

Mrs. Hendren concluded by saying our Lord's words, "Put the moral responsibility precisely where it belongs—on the parents," Jesus said, "Whosoever shall cause one of these little ones that believe in me to stumble, it is profitable for him that a great milestone should be hanged about his neck and that he should be sunk in the depths of the sea."

Thirteen answered roll call. Mrs. Roy Caldwell dismissed in prayer. The next quarterly W. M. S. meeting will be held April 15 at the Big Ridge Baptist church.

The group enjoyed hearing these very talented young people and they appeared early in the program.

During the business meeting the regular free-will offering was taken for the building fund class pledge, and several sick members were remembered.

Nixon to Reply To Stevenson Attack Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, with White House backing, is scheduled to give the nation tonight the Republican Party's official reply to a blistering attack by Adlai E. Stevenson.

Nixon promised he would meet head-on the issues raised by the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate at a party rally a week ago.

Stevenson pictured the Republican Party as hopelessly split, "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower," and accused it of waging a campaign of "slander, dissension and deception."

Nixon said his speech tonight would reflect the views of the Republican Party and particularly of President Eisenhower. He spent 45 minutes with the President late Friday going over the subject before retiring to the seclusion of a downtown hotel room to prepare the talk in complete privacy.

He will speak from notes, rather than a prepared text.

Nixon was said to be Mr. Eisenhower's personal choice to represent their party in a "free time" speech at 10:30 p. m. EST over CBS radio-television and NBC radio.

It is at the same time and over the same networks Stevenson had for a speech before a Democratic rally in Miami Beach, Fla., last Saturday night which provoked the controversy.

U. S. May Help
Train Forces
In Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may soon help the French train native forces in Indochina in a move aimed at winning an all-out victory over the Communist rebels, authorities said today.

Lt. Gen. John W. (Iron Mike) O'Daniel, who Friday was appointed commander of the American military assistance group in Indochina, has a reputation as a training expert. O'Daniel is now U. S. Army chief in the Pacific.

In announcing the appointment, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, pointedly called attention to O'Daniel's training experience. But he quickly added that any American move to train Indochinese natives would depend on the French.

Mt. Vernon, Pinckneyville Advance to State Finals

Panthers Beat Centralia, 67-61; Harvey Ousts Morton; DuSable Is Chicago Entry

SPRINGFIELD — Pinckneyville, Quincy, Mount Vernon and Rockford East today headed up the Illinois high school basketball "sweet 16" which will fight for the state championship starting Wednesday.

Also included in the select group after Friday's sectional action are one of Chicago's strongest entries, unbeaten DuSable; a "Little David" district winner, Bowen; and a Johnny-Come-Lately team that couldn't buy a victory before tournament time, Springfield.

Other sectional championship winners Friday night were Barrington, Harvey Thornton, Danville, Princeton, Cumberland, Peoria Central, Moline, Litchfield and Edwardsville.

Every one of these clubs held a claim to prominence after advancing through a rugged field to gain a sectional crown.

Top Thriller at Harrisburg
Harvey ousted Cicero Morton by a narrow 53-50. Cicero Morton had been tagged the favorite off its victory of La Grange in the regional tournament. Morton had a two-point lead with minutes to play, but led by Captain Al Lowery, Harvey fought back to score its final seven points in a rush.

At Harrisburg, Mount Vernon guard Al Avant, fouled as the game ended, won the night's top thriller by sinking two free throws to give the Rams a 70-69 win over Mount Carmel. Archie Dees, the 6 foot, 10 inch center for the Golden Aces, got 38 points.

At Jacksonville, Quincy snatched an overtime 71-68 victory with three free throws finally settling the issue. Jacksonville's Roger Ezard led scoring with 19 points while big Quincy center Tom Payne hit 18.

E. Rockford to Play Moline
Biggest victory margins of the night were held by Moline, 73-53 over Sterling, and once-beaten Barrington, 61-42 over Maywood Provision. For Moline the win marked the climax of its comeback after being pummeled with four late-season defeats.

Rockford East mauled DeKalb 69-51. East and Moline will tangle in the Sweet 16 second game next Wednesday. Moline handed Rockford East a 20-point loss, one of the only two for the season for East, when the two clubs met Dec. 4 at Moline.

state crown, edged Monmouth 56-54 at Moline. It was Bowen's 30th win against two losses.

But Bowen will meet one of the sternest tests in the state final opening round, however, when it meets Chicago DuSable next Thursday. DuSable Friday afternoon outclassed Lakeview 82-65 to win the Chicago berth in the state finals. Star DuSable forward Paxton Lumpkin led the Panthers' scoring with 26 points.

Pinckneyville Justifies Rating
Pinckneyville and Peoria Central are the only two clubs from the 1953 Sweet 16 to gain a return trip to Champaign from downstate. DuSable represented Chicago last year. Pinckneyville curbed a high-scoring Centralia quintet 67-61 to justify its season-end rating as the state's second best club in the United Press coaches poll.

Peoria Central had little trouble with Pekin, winning 65-55. Central was second at Champaign last year. The Lions now have taken 14 straight since suffering a mid-season letdown because of injuries. Cumberland barred Lawrenceville's return to Huff gymnasium for the finals with a 73-66 win at the Oney sectional. Cumberland's Eastern Illinois League champs will be one of the winningest entries in the final round, sporting a 30-2 record.

Danville outclassed Hoopston 58-47 to take the Champaign sectional. Danville will open Sweet 16 play Wednesday against Mount Vernon.

Edwardsville Wins
Princeton also eliminated a state finalist of last year, Ottawa, with a 54-46 victory in the LaSalle regional. Princeton, 28-3, had lost to Ottawa in the next-to-last game of the regular season when a star player was out with the mumps.

At Wood River, Edwardsville, rated one of the strongest entries for the state crown, barely nosed out a well-balanced East St. Louis squad 74-72.

Litchfield's Purple Panthers, with Ron Pursell scoring 29 points in one of his best games of the season, knocked out Deatur's Reds 73-69 at Vandalia. Litchfield jumped off to an 11-point lead but Deatur shot an amazing 420 to narrow the gap to 34-30 at the half and they went on even terms from there.

The Cinderella team of the finals will be Springfield, a club that won only five games before tournament play began. The Solons took the Springfield sectional crown by beating Lincoln 39-30, after they had lost twice to the Railsplitters in regular season action. Springfield's mastery of the ball control game proved too much for the Big 12 co-champs.

Two More Benton Coaches Quit

The resignation of Ralph Hooker, basketball coach at Benton high school, has been followed by the resignation of two more Benton coaches.

They are Jim Lovin, head football mentor, and Frank Chornak, who coaches track. No reason was given.

All resignations are effective at the end of the school year.

Bleachers Collapse At Reception for Elizabeth; 22 Hurt

CAIRNS, Australia (AP) — Two bleachers holding more than 400 spectators collapsed today at a civic reception honoring Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

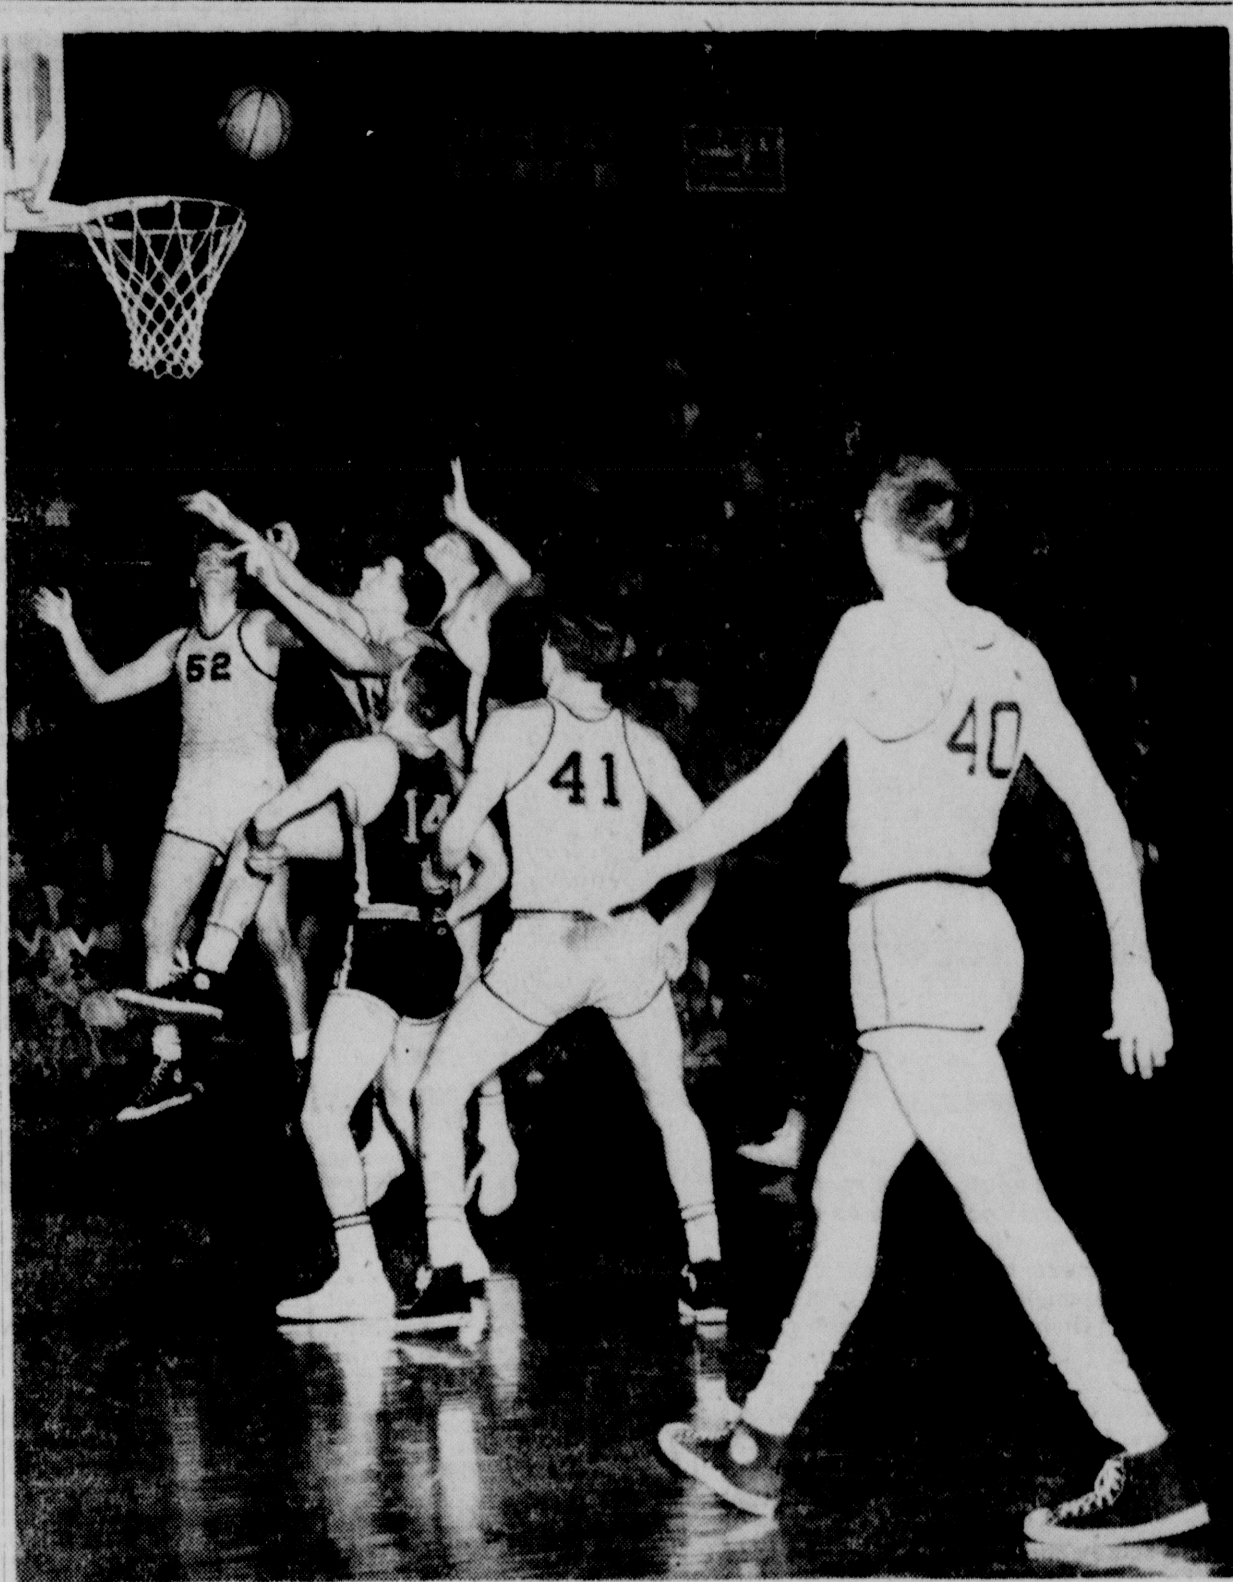

Twenty-two members of the crowd were injured. The fallen stands were 250 feet from the royal dais, and the Queen and the duke were not endangered by the accident.

A girl's scream gave the first warning of trouble. The royal couple glanced in that direction in time to see one stand collapse, piling people four and five deep on the ground.

A moment later the second bleacher section fell, throwing men and screaming women into a confused heap.

Two women were hospitalized, one with a broken leg and the other with a broken foot. The other injuries were described as "minor."

Looking AT Sports

By Ed Kirkpatrick

We saw a great basketball game last night between two great high school ball clubs. And we came away with the feeling that such clean, hard fought sports, coupled with the fine showing of sportsmanship, is truly one of the contributors to the greatness of this country. We'll have to set the Mt. Vernon-Mt. Carmel sectional final down in our book as one of the most thrilling witnessed in years. We'll wager that the 4500 fans which crammed into spacious Davenport gymnasium won't forget it very soon either. They'll not forget Mt. Vernon's big 10-point lead, nor Mt. Carmel's terrific rally that all but carried them into the State tournament. They'll not forget towering Archie Dees nor Albert Avant.

Losing is tough, no matter how it comes. And Mt. Carmel's loss came in the toughest fashion we know... that of standing helpless on the sidelines while victory flickers and then dies. It took the steel cold nerves of a true athlete to accomplish the chore left to steady Albert Avant last night. His eye and arm were unfaltering in the most crucial of moments, as he pitched two straight free throws after the final buzzer sounded. One assured the Rams of a tie; the second brought them victory.

As jubilant Mt. Vernon fans swarmed onto the court to accord their team the well-wishes that come with victory, we could not help but notice too the sorrowful faces of the conquered, as they trudged slowly to the rooms below. The lost expression covering the face of Roy Gatewood, Mt. Carmel coach, demanded the awed reverence of any viewer. Inward torture from the invisible injury of defeat left it wracked in the gravest of agony.

Archie Dees we would say is one of the greatest tall high school players we have ever seen in action. His coordination and shooting ability approach the faultless. He is, we feel, without a doubt of All-State caliber. Although the entire Mt. Carmel quintet played fine ball, they made several errors. And therein, we would say, was the telling factor. Their fight and spirit, were not quite enough to check the cool collectedness and all-around team play of the Mt. Vernon club.

We can truly say that either team would have made a fine representative in the State tournament from this sectional. Our best wishes go to the Mt. Vernon Rams as they seek another State title, and our most hearty congratulations go with equal fervor to the great losers — Mt. Carmel's Aces.

JUST DRIBBLING — With no complaint on the officiating, we must say that we feel such a contest deserved the hiring of a third

Notre Dame Drops Indiana From NCAA Play

Rosenthal Holds Schlundt to One Field Goal in 65-64 Victory

By United Press

Indiana and Louisiana State were on the outside looking in today in the NCAA basketball tournament, leaving Notre Dame, La Salle, Oklahoma A & M, and Southern California as favorites to gain the semi-final bracket.

Notre Dame knocked defending champion Indiana out of the regional playoffs Friday night, 65-64, and tonight meets Penn State, which also turned in a surprise 78-70 triumph over LSU. Their game is at Iowa City, Iowa.

At Philadelphia, it will be La Salle, an 88-81 victor over North Carolina State, against never-say die Navy, which advanced with a 69-67 victory over Cornell.

In the Western regionals, the Oklahoma Aggies are paired against Bradley and Southern California meets Santa Clara. The Aggies turned back Rice, 51-45, and Bradley eliminated Colorado, 76-74, at Stillwater, Okla., while USC outclassed Idaho State, 73-59, and Santa Clara crushed Colorado A&M, 73-50, at Corvallis, Oregon.

Irish Gain Revenge
Tonight's four scattered games will qualify the winners for the semi-finals at Kansas City, Mo., next Friday night.

Notre Dame's narrow victory over Indiana easily was the highlight of Friday night's action. The Hoosiers had eliminated Notre Dame on the way to last year's championship and beat the Irish by 11 points earlier this season. But Notre Dame finally got its revenge.

Dick Rosenthal set up Notre Dame's 18th straight victory by scoring 25 points while holding the Hoosiers' Don Schlundt to one field goal. He also provided the winning margin by sandwiching two free throws between two desperation baskets by Indiana's Bob Leonard in the final seconds.

Penn State, a last-minute "at large" entry in the tournament, also attributed its victory over LSU to one man — Jesse Arnelle — who stole the rebound play from the Tigers' illustrious Bob Pettit and contributed 24 points. Pettit scored 34 points, but got little help from his jittery mates.

Sophomore Charley Singley teamed up beautifully with All-American Tom Gola in leading La Salle to victory over North Carolina State. Each scored 26 points, while Gola also turned in 26 rebounds.

Carney Scores 37 Points
Don Lange's 29 points and John Clume's 21 tallies helped set up Navy's victory over Cornell. However, the winning margin was provided by the Middies' unheralded Ken McCalley, who dropped in a long set shot with only three seconds remaining. — It was McCal-

At Avant Scores Two Free Throws After Final Horn, Rams Win, 70-69

4,500 Fans Jam Davenport Gym; Archie Dees Scores 38 Points

The game was over except for a great competitor's chances to win for his team and Albert Avant came through with two free shots to give his Mt. Vernon Rams a 70-69 victory over the Mt. Carmel Aces and send the Rams into the state tournament at Champaign next week. They will meet Danville in the first game of the opening round of the state finals at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday.

An estimated 4,500 fans or more who jammed into every nook and cranny, sat all over the floor and even hung onto goal posts saw Mt. Vernon go from defeat to victory after the horn had sounded ending the game.

Mt. Carmel was leading 69-68 and had possession of the ball with only a few seconds left in the game. Guard John Cox was dribbling the ball slowly up the floor and it looked like the game was in the bag for the Aces by the narrowest of margins.

Makes Both Free Shots

But Avant stole the ball and headed toward his basket. Cox made a lunge toward the dribbling Avant and fouled him, crashing face-forward onto the floor as the horn sounded.

The game was officially over but Avant had two free shots and made them both, and the little fellow who can break your back with his competitive play and his uncanny shooting when the going is toughest had won a ball game for his team.

It was one of the greatest basketball games ever played in Harrisburg, and the greatest sports crowd in the history of the town was on hand to see the contest. They came from far and near — with Mt. Carmel apparently supplying the most. The Aces were out to win and the team and fans were a sad lot after Avant's two free throws.

Dees Scores 38 Points

The game was a toss-up from start to finish and again Archie Dees, great 6-8 center of Mt. Carmel, did not disappoint. The tall blond put 38 points through the hoop on 16 field goals and six free shots, and adding the 46 he made against Mounds Douglas the night before, gave him 84 points for his two games in the tournament. Avant had 27 for his team.

The first quarter saw the score tied six times as both teams fought for the lead and with Dees making 10 points, the Aces moved out in front 17-13 at the end of the period. In the second quarter the score was tied five times but in this frame it was Mt. Vernon that pulled out in front as the Rams outscored the Aces, 21-13, to take a 34-30 lead at halftime.

Mt. Vernon's play in the third quarter gave some indication it would move out and win the game as it pulled ahead 53-44 at one point and was leading 55-47 at the end of the period. And with six minutes left in the ball game the Rams were out in front 60-54, and at that point their 6-4 center, Larry Whitlock, fouled out.

Fans Kept Coming In
With three minutes and 40 seconds left Mt. Carmel tied the count at 63-63, 30 seconds later went ahead 65-63. A free throw and a free shot by the Rams put Mt. Vernon back in the lead 66-65 with a minute and 45 seconds remaining but a basket by Dees and two free shots by Perry put the Aces ahead, 69-66 with 30 seconds left.

Don Richards took a shot that connected for Mt. Vernon and with only seconds remaining the Aces had a 69-68 lead and the ball in their possession.

At this point Avant did his steal and was fouled. The horn sounded but Avant still had his two shots. He made 'em both.

So close was the play that each team made but one substitution, and Mt. Vernon made its replacement because Whitlock fouled out. B. Brown, the Aces sub, also fouled out.

Never has such a crowd been seen in Davenport gym. An hour before game time all except reserved seats were taken and the fans kept coming in and went someplace — mostly on the floor.

Newsmen from Mt. Vernon, Mt. Carmel, Cairo, Champaign and Urbana, plus photographers, joined in the local press section. Radio stations from Mt. Vernon and Mt. Carmel joined WEBQ. And WTAU-TV, Channel 52, Princeton, Ind., was present taking films of the game which will be developed and shown over the air.

SOMEONE HAS A LITTLE LAMB

Youngsters are always "cute"—whether they're the woolly type or the romper variety. Youngsters are appealing because they are fascinating miniatures of the adult of the species. So tiny... yet they look, and soon begin to act, like smaller editions of the grown-ups.

That fact should make human parents deeply conscious of their responsibility. Their own example and influence, and their provision for the child's spiritual needs can make or mar a youngster's character.

Churches are the chief allies of conscientious parents. They provide consecrated Christian teachers, interesting graded lessons and the inspiring worshipful setting for a child's moral and spiritual training.

Will you help some church in this vital phase of its work? Will you attend and support the Church? Will you encourage parents you know to give their children the advantage of the Church's teaching ministry?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

"Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die," said Jesus (John 12:24), "it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit."

These words were to have their supreme illustration in His own life and death, for His death on the Cross has brought forth much fruit.

But Jesus laid it down as a law of the spiritual world that "whoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it" (Matthew 16:25; John 12:25).

Jesus spoke these words as He was facing the Cross, in an hour which, for the disciples as well as the prospect, was one of risk, danger and possible death.

It has meant no less for multitudes of Christian martyrs, whose blood traditionally has been "the seed of the Church."

Is the Christian life, then, only a life of martyrdom? And are we, who are situated in areas where there is little danger of our dying for our faith, excluded from the life that is found through sacrifice?

It would seem under the time and circumstances that Jesus may have been referring to the actual giving up of physical life, the death of earth and time in contrast with keeping life "unto life eternal" (John 12:25).

But I think His words have a deeper and more general application to normal Christian living. Saint Paul suggested this when he wrote, in 1 Corinthians 15:31, "I die daily."

What Paul meant by that is brought out in Galatians 2:20, where he says: "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life that I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave Himself for me."

To read those words is to realize the source and secret of the strength of that Apostle, the firmness of will that could keep him fearless and undismayed under persecution and the threat of death (see Acts 20:24).

All that had pertained to his Master, Paul shared, and in that sharing he found, as he said, the power of Christ in him, and in Whom he lived.

That experience is so deep, so vast, so overwhelming that I suppose few of us attain it. Yet such knowledge of Christ can bring strength and joy, such as has been brought to many humble souls, as well as outstanding saints.

Perhaps the mistake that most of us make is in failing to share all the experiences of the Christ as Paul did. We walk with Jesus in the fields; we listen as He talks in the villages with the common people who hear Him gladly; we watch as He blesses the little children.

But we shrink from following to the Cross, even as Mary, His mother, did (see John 19:25).

Yet the secret of the fullness of life is in going all the way. "He that loseth his life shall find it."
